BOSTON, May 7.—Dineen held the New York at his mercy in every inning but the fifth of to-day's game, holding them down to five hits with a total of six bases. Witze was pitted against Dineen, and although left-happing in a fashion suitable to their tailend position and likewise ball of minor leagues the soundent Philadelphias were beaten easily by the New York Nationals yesterday, listlessness and want of class rather than poor play characterized the Quakers' game. The New York Nationals yesterday in their fielding, and errors figure in three of the four Philadelphia runs; but despite this encouragement to the visitors they were not seriously formidable. The New Yorks made an even dozen of hits, and several of these were scratchy, but they made sound clean-cut hits when men were on bases.

The same was free from kicking, with the these were scratchy, but they made sound clean-cut lits when men were on bases. The game was free from kicking, with the exception of talking from the bench by McGinnity of the New Yorks, who for cutting in and violating the rules was very properly ordered off the field by Umpire Moran. The pitcher went off smiling as if he had done something smart and to be proud of. Old Slandow Mertes was as usual mighty with his bat. He batted in the first New York run with a two-bagger and later punished the leather for a smoking triple. The only run the Quakers made that was not a sift was in the third inning, when Thomas hit for two bases and scored on Barry's single Berry scored in the same inning on a wild throw to first by Gilbert.

A pair of errors in quick succession gave the Philadelphias a run in the fourth. Browne's weakness on fiv balls was seen when he dropped Brashear's fly after a short citf.

riowne's walkness on hy balls was seen when he dropped Brashear's fly after a short ruft.

Then Gilbert made another wild throw to first and Brashear scored. Douglass tried to reach third base on the same wild throw but McGann's good assist after chasing the ball nipped Douglass at third. Lauder's fumble and a wild pitch by Mathewson, who was none too steady, gave the Philadelphias their fourth count.

Bowerman batted in a run in the second droining for New York with a line hit to right, and Van Haltren's whistling liner accounted for two more in the fourth. The three New York runs in the fifth inning resulted from a little of everything. There were two hits in the inning, one wild pitch, one sacrifice, two stolen bases and one fumble by Hulswitt. One of the hits, that by Mathewson, was a scratch to centre and was the means of giving the spectators some fun at Thomas's expense. Bowerman raced to third on the hit, and Thomas made a bluff throw as if to coax flowerman, to Thomas's surprise, did keep on for home. Thomas was trapped by a snare of his own setting, and when he threw the ball it was too late, Bowerman beating the throw. McGann stole four bases. The Philadelphia catcher got the ball away slowly and then not with accuracy.

In that period the Brooklyns made six bits, took first base on balls three times, and between jolts of their gwn creating and journers of Pittinger's devising seven runs were scored. The consecutive winning was carried over into the next inning.

Capt. Doyle of Brooklyn, who previous to yesterday had been hewing close to the line of good behavior, ran foul of the umpre in the sixth inning and was put out of the game. His removal makes the list of Brooklyn growlers who have been bounced for kicking unpardonably long. So far the reessures adopted in the National Losque to suppress the kickers have not been a conspicuous success.

AMERICAN LEAGUE GAMES. New Yorks Beaten in Boston and Fall Back Two Notches.

The Chicago Americans seem bent on making a runaway race of it. They downed St. Louis yesterday and now lead their nearest rivals by over 200 points. With the next six teams the struggle is very close. The New Yorks were beaten in Boston yesterday, and both Boston and Philadelphia passed them. The Philadelphias simply smothered Washington. For Keeps the Yachts at Anchor Until Afternoon-Reliance and Columbia Start for a Brush in a Nice Breeze, but Rain Sends Them to Their Moorings

The Reliance will start for Bristol at 10 o'clock this morning. She needs some slight overhauling and her sails have to be recut. She will also get some light sails that are waiting for her. It is expected that she will be gone about Tour days and then will come west and resume her daily spins at this end of the Sound. The Columbia is to be docked here and the Constitution is expected here early next week, and then all three yachts will have about a week for final tuning up before the first race, which is scheduled to be sailed off Glen Cove on May 21. Yesterday was a poor day for sail stretching except for about half an hour in the afternoon. There was a thick fog hanging over the Sound during the morning and little prospect of the weather conditions improving. The mainsail of the Reliance was hoisted so as to be ready when a breeze should come, but a sharp shower at 11 o'clock forced Capt. Barr to run it down again and put the sail covers on.

SHAMROCK STRETCHES SAILS. Yacht Out for First Time Since the Accident -- A New Steering Wheel.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. GOUROCK, May 7.—The Shamrock III. and the Shamrock I. got under sail this morning for the first time since the accident to the challenger. There was a slight northeasterly wind early in the morning, and both vessels hoisted sail at 9 o'clock. They carried mainsails and jackyard topsails, and the headsails were ready in stops.

The topsail of Shamrock I, set badly and a jib header was substituted. The new suit 10:30 o'clock, flying the burgee of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club and headed out of Gourock Bay on a starboard reach. The Shamrock I. followed, carrying a jib topsail and jib header. Sir Thomas Lipton and Designer Fife were aboard the challenger. The light wind died out altogether in a short time, and the yachts drifted around the mouth of the loch for a long while. Finally, the challenger sent up a reaching jib topsail, but there was barely a capful of wind. The outing, however, served the main purpose for which it was intended—that of sail stretching.

About 1 o'clock the challenger and Shamrock I. started down the Firth in a westerly breeze, the Shamrock I. carrying her spinnaker. The yachts covered the three miles slowly. Then the breeze died out, and, after swinging around with the tide for home, the boats returned to Gourock Bay.

A new and more substantial steering wheel has been fitted on the challenger instead of the original bicycle-like arrangement.

Morris Park Entries for To-day. hour last night he was still under the ban. At that time the track of calls were non-committal, but it is still possible to secure a special faculty dispensation to enable lishop to take a special examination this morning so that he can reach Philadelphia in time for his events in the games this afternoon if the result of the examination is satisfactory to the authorities.

The rest of the track squad, over thirty in number, went to Philadelphia last night, and Manager Stauffer will follow this morning. A calculation yesterday afternoon indicates that Columbia ought to win at least 52 out of the 17 points possible without lishop, which would give the meet to the quakers by 13 points unless the unexpected happened.

BROOKLYN HORSE SHOW. Alfred G. Vanderbilt Wine in Harness Class SPECIAL for this Week

With Mindbed. The second night's horse show of the Riding and Driving Club of Brooklyn, at the Prospect Park Plaza, last night, was a decided improvenent on the opening occasion. There was a bigger crowd present and greater interest was evinced in the discrent classes. The notable winners of the night were Jay C. Carlisle, Mrs. John Gerken, Miss Mollie C. Maxwell and Alfred G. Vanderbilt.

The work of the judges opened with a class of pairs of 15.2 hands and over and there were six entries, all of which put in an appearance.

After the usual formalities by the judicial department the first ribbon went to a pair of chestnut geldings owned by Jay F. Carliele. A class of hunters followed and out of an entry of eleven there was but one absentes. As in a similar class the opening night the honors

A class of hunters fellowed and out of an entry of cleven there was but one absentes. As in a similar class the opening night the honors fell to Miss Mollie Maxwell and her compact hunter Lucie.

The third class on the tanbark was composed of trotting roadsters, and for a while the growd enjoyed the aptining about of the runahouts. There were five entries. The quintet of steppers were subjected to several rounds of the ring in order to get a good line on the action, which finally resulted in the descration of Benay, a black mare, with the blue rosette. She was shown by her owner, E. T. Bedford.

The ten-year-old brown mare Vida Wilkes carrilod off the red ribbon, and was driven by her owner. Williams V. Hoffman, and Willie Guy, a bay gelding, brought the yellow ribbon to W. H. Jenks.

A formidable entry of twenty-six pranced into the ring in the class of harness horses, shown in appropriate vehicles. The first man to be shown the door was A. G. Vanderbilt, who exhibited the brown selding Sindbad. He carried the unlucky number "13" and those around thought it surely proved his hoodoo. First honors in this class went to The Newboby, a showy chestaut owned by Mrs. John Gerken, the award being well received by the crowd.

In the harness tandem class Jay F. Carliale scored his second win of the night with the chestnut geldings Promoter and Underwriter. Mr. Vanderbilt showed Sindbad and Cinderells and tooled them himself, but could not catch the judge's eye.

Mr. Vanderbilt captured the blue ribbon in the class for horses of any height, driven to runabouts. He drove Sinbad himself, and when the horse was decorated with first hours the horse was decorated with first hours. He was some disappointment at the absence of Heatherbloom from the jumping class, but the record holder is resting until the special contest bo-night. The winner turned up in Riffe, ridden by Donnelly.

Class 6--First prize, $18, second, $25, for pairs 1.2.2 and ever, shown to four. wheeled carriages-Won by Jay F. Carlisle, with Promoter, ch. g. 15.
